

The film about the project whatsalp Vienna – Nice 2017

Online at: <https://whatsalp.org/de/videos/>

In summer 2017 – 25 years after TransALPedes – again a group hiked around 1800 kilometers from Vienna to Nice. The changes in landscape and society between then and now have been documented in images, text and sound. With over 60 direct encounters on site, the hikers discussed scenarios for a sustainable future of the Alps.

The documentary by Daniel Knecht and Harry Spiess illuminates the current discussions about the present and future of the Alpine region with numerous interviews on tourism, climate change, transport and energy.
